Collecting & Transporting Food Scraps

Collect food scraps in a small receptacle and add to your larger container for transporting.

Folks find it convenient to keep a container (plastic or cardboard) in the freezer that they add to and can empty out easily without the bother of fruit flies or odor.

Bring your sealed, full container or bag to WSWMD for composting. Make sure your bag is closed up or your bucket/container is sealed for an easier transport.

Make sure whatever you line your container with is compostable: BPI certified bags or use non-glossy newspaper
